Intern M&A and Growth Team (f/m/d)

The All4Labels Group, headquartered in Hamburg, is one of the world's leading label companies and a pioneer in sustainable and digital packaging solutions. Our company operates in +25 production sites, generates over 520m€ of revenues, and is driven by +3000 bright and passionate talents. Over the next years we will pursue ambitious growth targets in close cooperation with our investor Triton Partners, to further strengthen our global footprint.

Our dynamic team advises the Group's top-level management on current and future growth opportunities, ranging from developing strategies and setting up deal structures to the actual transaction processes. You will thus directly support our colleagues in sourcing, valuation, and execution of compelling national and international M&A transactions

We offer an exciting internship with a steep learning curve in a stimulating, collegial and positive setting. Working with us, you will find an international environment full of opportunities combined with a fair compensation.

As an intern you will be integrated into our team from the very beginning and learn from experienced colleagues. Together we will work on subjects such as:

- Co-responsibility in the evaluation of inorganic growth opportunities, related to technologies, geographies, and end markets
- Independent research activities on customers, markets, as well as targets
- Creation and maintenance of financial models
- Application of valuation techniques
- Due diligence activities (i.e. setting up virtual data rooms, Q&As, participation in workshops)
- Involvement in the actual transaction processes
